Columbia

Core

Columbia Sportswear, based in Portland, Oregon, is a global outdoor brand that has been creating innovative outdoor gear and industry-leading technologies since 1938.

Founder Gert Boyle's "Tough Mother" persona lives on in the Columbia brand. Her legendary perfectionism ("It's perfect. Now make it better.") and the high standards to which she held herself and others still guide the company today.

It all began in 1937 when Gert's parents fled Nazi Germany and settled in Portland where they purchased a small hat manufacturer, naming it the Columbia Hat Company. Signifying a fresh start for the family, the business eventually passed from Gert's father to her husband Neal and then to Gert herself in 1970 when she went from housewife to executive overnight after Neal's sudden passing.

At Columbia, they're as passionate about the outdoors as you are. Whether you hike, fish, hunt, camp, climb, shred, paddle, golf, run, or just enjoy the fresh air with friends, Columbia wants to create the gear to keep you outdoors longer.

The Outbacker collection takes inspiration from classic field inspired timepieces. A navigational compass is built-into the internal turning concave ring that adds style and function. Rugged strap materials, tumbled leathers, and knurled stainless steel bracelets, add to the versatility of this collection. If adventure is on your horizon, then the Outbacker is your go-to, must-have wrist gear.

The Canyon Ridge collection embodies the spirit of the Columbia brand with clean, time-tested field design elements. A signature feature is the ergonomically engineered crown position at the four hour which allows for extra movement and comfort at the wrist. Canyon Ridge features nylon webbing or tumbled leather straps. Go explore the everyday.

The Peak Patrol collection is an edgy renegade in wrist wear and timing gear. A chiseled bezel with peaks and valleys forged into the steel casing display numeral markings that add a functional timer when paired with the analog watch movement. The custom designed water-resistant silicone strap is designed for durability and rugged conditions. Featuring a sand-blasted finish dial texture and added function of a day-date calendar, the Peak Patrol takes timing to the extreme.

Pacific Outlander features an ultra-sweat-wicking channel designed silicone strap for added performance and durability. A ratcheting aluminized bezel doubles as a time tracker, with an all-hour luminous indexed watch face, calendar date function and color infusion takes the Pacific Outlander collection to the outer limits of function and style.
